1. General information

Language
In Malta there are two official languages: Maltese and English.

Administrative settings
Malta is a republic with a President as the head of state. The Prime minister and the ministers form the Cabinet, the executive branch of the government, while the Parliament forms the legislative branch of the government. In addition to the central government, Malta has a system of local government composed of 68 local councils.

The Maltese Archipelago is composed of 3 main inhabited islands: Malta, Gozo and Comino. Malta, where the capital city, Valletta, is located, is the centre of the administrative, commercial and cultural life. Gozo is the second largest island and more rural, while Comino is largely uninhabited.

Population
With an area of 316 km², the Maltese Archipelago is one of the smallest in the world. Yet it is also one of the densest, with a population of 514,564 (as at 2019).

More information on applicable conditions and standards is available here: https://deputyprimeminister.gov.mt/en/health-promotion/covid-19/Pages/travel.aspx

Regulations are subject to change according to the situation.

Appointments need to be made for health screening. Any vaccines that are needed will be provided (polio, rubella, TB, diptheria, tetanus, etc.) for free.

Documentation and security check

Holders of a biometric passport can enter visa-free and stay in the country for a total of 90 days within the last 180 days.

Border checks are performed upon arrival at the airport or seaport by immigration police officials.

All arrivals are registered in the ETIAS database/system.
Malta activated temporary protection for displaced persons from Ukraine on 8 March 2022. Malta grants temporary protection to the following categories of persons displaced from Ukraine on or after 24 February 2022, following the invasion by Russian armed forces that began on that date:

a. Ukrainian nationals residing in Ukraine before 24 February 2022;
b. Stateless persons, and nationals of third (i.e. non-EU) countries other than Ukraine, who benefited from international protection or equivalent national protection in Ukraine before 24 February 2022; and
c. Family members of the persons referred to in points (a) and (b).

The following persons are considered family members, insofar as the family was already present and residing in Ukraine before 24 February 2022:

1. The spouse of a person referred to in points (a) or (b), or the unmarried partner in a stable relationship;
2. The minor unmarried children of a person referred to in point (a) or (b), or of their spouse, without distinction as to whether they were born inside or outside a marriage or adopted;
3. Other close relatives who lived together as part of the family unit at the time of the circumstances surrounding the mass influx of displaced persons, and who were wholly or mainly dependent on a person referred to in point (a) or (b) at the time.

Temporary protection will also be granted to stateless persons, and nationals of third countries (i.e. non-EU countries) other than Ukraine, who can prove that they were legally residing in Ukraine before 24 February 2022 on the basis of a valid permanent residence permit issued in accordance with Ukrainian law, and who are unable to return in safe and durable conditions to their country or region of origin.

It is important to note that in case you are unable to submit evidence that you fall under the target groups listed above, you cannot be granted temporary protection.

If you do not fall under the categories mentioned above, you can still apply for international protection.
Where can you register for temporary protection in Malta?

Temporary protection is not granted automatically. A request needs to be submitted with the International Protection Agency, which is responsible for the procedure for granting temporary protection.

Registrations take place at the premises of the International Protection Agency upon appointment. Appointments can be received by writing to frontoffice@ipa.gov.mt

What documents do you need for registration for temporary protection in Malta?

1. Original identification documents (passport, identity card, etc.).
2. Travel documents showing your travel route.
3. Original or printed copies of birth certificates of minor children
4. Printed copies of the first page of your passport or identity card (including the personal detail information / biodata page).
5. Printed copies of the page(s) of your passport or identity card including the stamp related to entry in the EU and/or the pages containing the VISA issued by an EU country.

What is the procedure to register for temporary protection in Malta?

To register for temporary protection in Malta you need to make an appointment by writing to the International Protection Agency at the following email address: frontoffice@ipa.gov.mt

You will then be given an appointment to present yourself, accompanied by the members of your family if any, at the International Protection Agency premises with all the necessary documents indicated above. An appointment is generally given within two weeks from the date you contact the International Protection Agency. However, timeframes might vary depending on availability.

On the day of the appointment, the competent personnel of the International Protection Agency will assess your request to determine your eligibility for temporary protection or otherwise. If it is established that you are eligible for temporary protection you will be issued with the following documents:
a) A decision indicating that you are being granted temporary protection.

b) A protection certificate indicating your status as a beneficiary of temporary protection. In general, the decision and protection certificate will be issued on the same day of your appointment.

Which documents will you receive as a beneficiary of temporary protection?

Once you are granted temporary protection, the International Protection Agency will issue a temporary protection certificate which entitles you to obtain a residence permit from Identity Malta Agency. The residence permit is a card containing biometric features, which will be necessary for you to prove your legal residence in Malta as well as to access all available services.

You must submit your application for a residence permit in person at Identity Malta Agency’s Hal-Far office:

The office is open Monday to Friday 7.30–12:30. You can present yourself without appointment or if you are required to present yourself on a specific date for an appointment you will receive an email from noneu.ima@gov.mt. To complete your application at Identity Malta office, you will need to bring some documentation.

All documents will be collected and checked, your photo and fingerprints will be taken, and you will be given a receipt with the official residence permit number. This receipt may be used for all services until your residence permit is issued. You will receive a letter from Identity Malta Agency informing you that the residence permit is ready to be collected.

The international protection procedure remains available to persons affected by the conflict in Ukraine as to any other third-country (i.e. non-EU) national.

It is important to note that temporary protection cannot be enjoyed concurrently with status as an applicant for international protection. This means that if you decide to apply for international protection you cannot benefit from temporary protection while your application for international protection is being processed.

At the same time, if you are affected by the conflict in Ukraine but are not eligible for temporary protection, you may apply for international protection. Your application will be examined by the International Protection Agency according to the regular asylum procedure and could end with a positive decision of either refugee status or subsidiary protection status, or with a negative decision which may be appealed.
